The Fox Guarantee

If you should ever have cause to complain about our products or service - please make your complaint to either of the partners. Nobody likes to receive complaints, but we'd sooner you made them to us, and got some action, than to other folk. The address and telephone details are shown above and elsewhere in this publication.

For authentic reproduction of life-size liveries in model form, it is essential that careful reference is made to photographic evidence of the loco you are trying to recreate. Whilst detailed instructions are usually provided to motive power depot painting staff, it is not unusual for variations to be outshopped which, to say the least, do not conform to said instructions.

Fox Transfers are unable to provide details other than those contained in general specifications for each livery. Much evidence will be gained from trawling the internet and the thousands of publications which have appeared over the years. And remember: all vehicles have two sides!

What you get

The plates detailed in this catalogue are made from fine grade brass and/or stainless steel, and the designs are etched to shape and size. Brass plates are treated against tarnishing. Where applicable, the transfers which adorn the plates are hand-printed and hand applied. Each colour is separately applied by hand in both transfer and paint formats.

Future Products

The Fox range of etched plates has been in preparation since the early 1990s. Those items which are not listed here are likely to be produced in the future if deemed viable. Jubilee, Patriot and Royal Scot class plates are in the course of preparation. Please telephone for individual availability.

Despatch Times

Fox etched plates are produced in small quantities and finished by hand, as mentioned above. Owing to the huge range of different plates and the colour variants and formats in which many are available, it is impossible, impracticable and uneconomic to maintain large ready-to-go stocks of any given item.

Some plates take up to an hour to finish, spread over four or five days. Please bear this in mind before ordering.

FOR THESE REASONS, THERE MAY BE A DELAY IN THE PREPARATION AND DESPATCH OF YOUR SELECTED PLATES. WE SHALL TRY TO ADVISE YOU OF ANY LIKELY DELAY WHERE APPLICABLE AND THE ANTICIPATED DESPATCH DATE.

Exhibitions

Since February 2007 we have been unable to take our stand to exhibitions. This has been caused by ill-health, economics, the dramatically increased size of our range and the necessity of maintaining our service to all our customers, worldwide.

Errors and omissions excepted

We have spent a great deal of time and care compiling this list. The information comes from a huge range of sources and we cannot guarantee that all of the detail is correct. If you are aware of any glaring errors or of any significant omissions to details of existing plates, please do let us know.

Prices

The price codes provided in this catalogue (after each item) should be read with the product price code list provided with this publication and are effective immediately. They supersede all previous prices. Fox Descriptive Price Lists are published normally every six months, sometimes more frequently if the volume of new releases warrants this. Please check with us that you are using the current Descriptive Price List. Our 'price year' is from 1 August until 31 July.

Orders paid by cheque or Postal Order and not carrying the correct amount will be returned.

Safety

Fox Etched Products comprise elements with extremely sharp edges and corners. They are not toys and are unsuitable for use by children.

Ancillary Plates

The word 'crest' or 'plaque' or 'motif' where shown in the listings after a locomotive's name indicates the inclusion of one or more pairs of ancillary plates appropriate to the specific format. These plates may comprise some form of heraldic device, or logo, motif or other graphic symbol or typographic addendum.

Titled Expresses of the NBR and Pre-War LNER standard design headboards.

LNER originated in January 1923, amalgamating Great Eastern, Great Central, Great Northern, North Eastern and North British. Having inherited a company (NBR) which already used loco headboards the LNER continued to develop this practice.

The list of headboards (we believe) cover all the pre-war expresses for Internal Scottish, King's Cross and Liverpool Street services and matching coach boards are also available to enhance your models.

We also have a range of Tailboards which would have been appropriate for some of these expresses (see Page 7 for details).

Titled Expresses of the NBR and Pre-War LNER standard design headboards.

Supplied as a stainless steel plate with colour transfer applied. These have been printed in our off white (straw) to give a more authentic appearance.

Care should be taken if handling excessively.

Titled Expresses of the NBR and Pre-War LNER standard design headboards.

*Matching coachboards are also available.
In an attempt to make these as authentic as possible these are supplied as follows :*

Each set comprises 16 blank stainless steel coach boards (44mm wide x 1.9mm high) plus 16 transfers (off white backgrounds with black text) for you to apply and over varnish. These sets are NOT SUPPLIED fully made up. You can also purchase just the 16 transfers or the just the 16 steel boards, independently giving you the chance to mix and match. We recommend that once the transfers have been applied (and allowed to dry for at least 24 hours) they are over varnished to 'seal' the transfer edges to the metalwork.

Care should be taken if handling excessively.

British Railways Titled Train Headboards

A Little Bit of Prototype Information: These headboards, with their raised beading and lettering in Gill Sans typeface to match the then current BR house style, were introduced by British Railways in the early 1950s. The size of the lettering varied according to the length of the title, often with the word 'THE' in larger lettering. There was a number of standard board sizes and shapes common to most regions, although the Southern was unique in its use of large rectangular boards with radiused corners. According to our information, some titles were displayed concurrently on boards of different design.

The background colour of all boards was originally black, although the Southern changed to green almost immediately after their introduction. By the mid-1950s, local variations began to appear on other regions, with London Midland and some Western boards in red. The Eastern's preference was for black, although Kings Cross Top Shed opted for dark (similar to Oxford) blue. The Scottish Region's preference was for light blue. With many boards still sporting black grounds right up to the end of the steam era, the logic behind the application of colours is difficult to ascertain. Long-distance inter-regional expresses would change locos once and sometimes twice during the course of their journey. Usually, headboards were not 'swapped': the replacement loco would back onto the train with its own headboard, supplied by the local shed and therefore finished in its preferred colour, or simply a suitable and available board, already in place.

The Western Region introduced its own, more ornate, headboards with cream backgrounds in the mid 1950s, (the Fox listing of these is shown after the section on 'plain' headboards). The original headboards were still frequently used across the country and, in the 1960s, were often carried by diesel locomotives which had supplanted their mainline steam predecessors on the express workings. On the London Midland, the 'Condor' freight working, shared by both steam and diesel locos, sported a unique design, with lettering tapered from top to bottom and ground split vertically into red and blue halves on an otherwise standard format board.

The 'Condor' headboard is just one of a huge number of eyecatching designs available in 4mm scale (for '00' gauge) from Fox. These are supplied etched-to-shape in stainless steel and are ready-painted as detailed below. PLEASE DON'T FORGET TO STATE THE BACKGROUND COLOUR YOU REQUIRE WHEN YOU ORDER!

We recommend the use of a small ball of Blu-Tac® fixed to the back of each headboard. This method of attachment means that headboards can be swapped around from one locomotive to another.

Coach Boards

British Railways Era

Our first presentation in this series actually puts the onus on you to do some work! It's our Do-It-Yourself set for the creation of destination names which we are unlikely to produce as standard items.

Included in this set are sixteen stainless steel destination boards supplied with blank waterslide transfers for you to apply in British Railways Western Region brown.

Also included is a sheet of Gill Bold Capitals alphabet in white. These are reproductions of the typeface used by British railways; the transfers are, of course available separately.

FEPCB4101FP : Fret of 16 coachboards for BR Western Region brown, plus a sheet of FRH 4035/001/ There are lots of characters on each sheet - 60 'A's for instance - so your additional requirements may not be too great : 057

FEPCB4101 : Fret of 16 coachboards only, as above : 037

FRH4035/001 : 1 sheet coachboard alphabet in white, as above : 017

Royal Scot Tartan Coachboards - Fully interchangeable

FEPCB4200 : Fret of 16 coachboards in stainless steel. Plus waterslide transfers supplied separately for you to apply in tartan background with crests plus the lettering THE ROYAL SCOT x 8 and LONDON-GLASGOW x 8. Sufficient for 4 coaches. Fully interchangeable 042

The next set in this series is primarily for the London Midland region but in post-1956 maroon livery is also suitable for the Eastern and Scottish regions. The coachboards are presented exactly as those above but with BR maroon transfer blanks.

FEPCB4201FP	Fret of 16 coachboards for BR London Midland maroon, plus a sheet of FRH 4035/001/ There are lots of characters on each sheet - 60 'A's for instance - so your additional requirements may not be too great :	057

Finally, we are pleased to offer the BR Southern region version which, of course, comprises coachboards with BR Southern region green transfers.

BR Coach Boards (1950s-1960s)

We have made a start on our latest series of coach boards. These initially are being introduced by demand - many of the boards below have been added to our range as a result of pre-orders by customers.

If you want a 'standard' board and it is not listed below, let us know and we will print it for you for the standard price.

In an attempt to make these as authentic as possible these are supplied as follows :

Each set comprises 16 blank stainless steel coach boards (44mm wide x 1.9mm high) plus 16 multi coloured transfers for you to apply and over varnish. These sets are NOT SUPPLIED fully made up. You can also purchase just the 16 transfers or the just the 16 steel boards, independently giving you the chance to mix and match. Unless otherwise stated, the transfers will be of one destination. We recommend that once the transfers have been applied (and allowed to dry for at least 24 hours) they are over varnished to 'seal' the transfer edges to the metalwork. Care should be taken if handling excessively.

British Railways Locomotive Sheds and their Codes

The following list includes that published by Ian Allan Ltd in their 'ABC of British Locomotives' to whom we direct our thanks for their permission to publish these details. The sheds named are only those which had an allocation of engines, and does not include overnight stabling or signing-on points. Main area sheds are shown in bold type, and subsheds are indented from, and listed under, their parent shed.

Those sheds listed which do not carry a name had been closed by the time the above list was compiled. We understand that some of these plates are suitable for use on LMS-theme layouts.

The first list shown below gives the allocations as at 1952. Later in the 1950s there was a certain amount of reorganisation and the second list gives the position by 1957.

Great Western Railway/
British Railways Western Region
Numberplates Sets:

All plates are made in the standard GWR style in etched brass with anti-tarnish finish and black background. They are appropriate for the period up to Nationalisation in 1948. Order FEPNPXXX (the numerals after the first five letter comprise the locomotive number on the plates).

The price code per pair is 015.

For the post-Nationalisation period, we provide in addition to the cabside plates a stainless steel smokebox numberplate which carries the loco number in the appropriate larger-size numerals (as those used on smokebox plates applied to British Railways Standard Design locos). The plates feature facsimile bolt-heads and a black background. Order FEPNPXXXBR (the numerals after the first five letters comprise the locomotive number on the plates). Only the items suffixed BR are currently available with a smokebox numberplate.

The price code per set is 022.

Some early numbers are duplicated with those of 'absorbed company' locomotives. When ordering, kindly specify which you require. Also, some of the listed cabside numberplates are suitable for loco classes other than those specified. For example, 2222 - 2247 are also authentic for County Tanks.

Should demand be sufficient, we shall continue to expand this range, as indeed we have done through 2009.

These plates are also entirely appropriate for use on industrial loco models. Please note that all plates were in stock at the date of publication. Stocks vary on a daily basis and are offered for sale on the basis that such stocks may be depleted by prior sale.

F

As ever, Fox are intent on providing you with the best and biggest choice of products. This applies to our nameplate facility, which has grown considerably over the last decade.

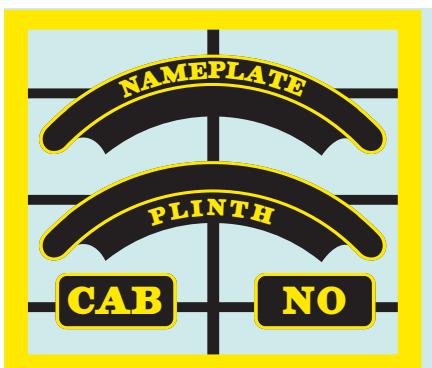

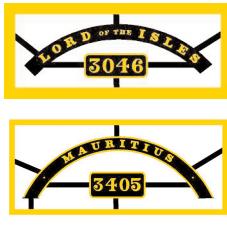

The vast range, the nature of production and the fluctuation in demand for any given plate set may mean that we are out of stock of your particular requirements at the time we receive your order. Please bear with us, or state alternatives which you would be prepared to accept.

Please also state how long you are prepared to wait; if the plates are required for an urgent job; or whether you would prefer a credit note or return of your payment if completion of your plates is likely to take more than a month or two. However, it should be stressed that more than 75% of the orders we receive are fulfilled by return, and the balance within four or five days.

On a point of safety, it should be remembered that the etching process by which the nameplates are created produces sharp edges and corners, which may cut the skin if not handled carefully. Their use, therefore, is not recommended for children or inexperienced modellers.

Brass nameplates are treated against tarnishing. This will enable plates to retain their brilliance and as-new appearance for many years.

Finally, in certain circumstances a ready-to-run model may carry facsimile nameplates which have been printed onto the body of the model and which are larger than the plates we supply. Our plates, to the best of our knowledge, are scale miniatures of the originals, and to remove traces of the oversize printed version, some repainting may be required.

TYPICAL GWR/BR(WR) NAMEPLATE SET CONTENTS

All nameplates are in black. Plinths may be green or black. Some plate sets in BR(WR) format are available with red nameplates and cabside numberplates and black plinths.

F

Great Western Railway, and its constituent companies, and British Railways Western Region

Nameplates and Numberplates Sets:

All plates are pre-cut, include BR smokebox numberplate in BR formats, together with standard cabside plates, and are finished in standard stock format in black. Please add 50p per set if you require a red finish, and be prepared for some delay.

With some of the earlier classes of locomotive, we have quoted two running numbers against the name. In most cases, the lower number is the original number, the higher number being that allocated at the time of the 1912 re-numberings. If you require a number for a particular period, please; so state in your order, as some sets do not carry both numbers

The vast range, the nature of production and the fluctuation in demand for any given plate set may mean that we are out of stock of your particular requirements at the time we receive your order. Please bear with us, or state alternatives which you would be prepared to accept.

Special features included in sets are described in brief after each catalogue entry.

F

Southern Railway, and its constituent companies, and British Railways Southern Region

Nameplates and Numberplates Sets:

All plates are pre-cut, include BR smokebox numberplate where applicable, and are finished in standard, stock format, as follows:

West Country Light Pacifics, Merchant Navy Class:
Red.

Battle of Britain Light Pacifics: Light Blue.

Please add price code 009 per set if you require an alternative finish, and be prepared for some delay.

All of the West Country Light Pacific plates include ribbons. All of the Battle of Britain Light Pacific plates include ovals except 34110.

The suffix 'crest' indicates the inclusion of a pair of crests in or with the nameplate set.

The vast range, the nature of production and the fluctuation in demand for any given plate set may mean that we are out of stock of your particular requirements at the time we receive your order. Please bear with us, or state alternatives which you would be prepared to accept.

River Class Southern Railway format only

Each set comprises a pair of nameplates only in etched brass (anti-tarnish finish).

Oval cabside numberplate blanks are available in etched brass with red backgrounds. These are supplied with transfer numerals for you to add the loco number of your choice.

For oval numberplate add the reference SRNP after the loco number (eg FEP790SRNP) and add price code 002 to the total.

Princess Coronation Class 4-6-2 'Original Equipment' (As-Built) Early LMS format - STAINLESS STEEL

All plate sets for the LMS Era (62XX) comprise a pair of stainless steel nameplates.

Items suffixed SLSS are for streamlined engines, and sets do not include a smokebox numberplate.

Items suffixed SS only are for unstreamlined engines, and sets include an LMS-style smokebox numberplate in stainless steel with black background.

Items suffixed SLSSEHO are longer lengths to fit the Early Hornby/Horby Dublo models.

Locos 6235, 6240 and 6254 are believed to have run in service without the city coat-of-arms which later were fitted above the nameplates. We offer nameplates without the coat-of-arms to enable you to replicate this: 6235SLSSNC, 6240SLSSNC and 6254SLSSNC

For Brass plates see 'Late LMS format'.

Nameplates and Numberplates Sets:

A4 Gresley Class 4-6-2 ('The Streamliners')

All plates are pre-cut, supported by tabs in a frame and include BR smokebox numberplate where applicable in both standard and 'curly 6s & 9s style'. They are finished in standard, stock format in black, red or crimson.

The suffix 'crest' indicates the inclusion of a pair of crests in or with the nameplate set.

The vast range, the nature of production and the fluctuation in demand for any given plate set may mean that we are out of stock of your particular requirements at the time we receive your order. Please bear with us or state alternatives which you would be prepared to accept.
