Class 40

The following sets of plates are manufactured in etched stainless steel with maroon backgrounds for the green livery and red backgrounds for the BR Rail Blue livery. The full size plates carried the house flags of shipping lines - these are now replicated in the nameplates as listed next.

'The Warships':

Classes 41, 42 and 43

The '600 Series' machines - Class 41 - were built by North British in Glasgow, introduced in 1958/1959. Of the '800 Series', D800 - D832 and D866 - D870 were built in the British Railways (ex-GWR) works at Swindon, and the intermediate batch, D833 - D865 commissioned from North British.

The livery story comprises three principal periods: Brunswick Green with pale grey-blue bodyside stripe (from introduction); Maroon; Rail blue to the end. In the mid-sixties, small yellow warning panels were added to the ends, followed around the turn of the decade by full yellow ends.

Running numbering in the 'green' and 'maroon' periods comprised the condensed style in white, - with suffixed 'D' prefixes, available from Fox on sheet FRH7005 and FRH7005/4, the latter sheet giving fully-made-up numbering for some of the 800 series. On repainting in Rail Blue, these were changed to the 'Rail' typestyle, the 'D' prefixes being removed after the end of the steam era. This numbering is available from Fox on sheet F7310. BR motif application, generally speaking, was as follows: Green period: Later BR steam totem, Fox sheet FRH7002; Maroon period: BR coaching stock roundel: Fox sheet FRH7011; blue period BR white double arrows: Fox sheet F7300/2. Overhead live wire warning flashes (both designs) may be obtained on Fox sheet F7214, or early design only: FRH7020. Data (traffic) panels come on sheet F7360 (later) and F7360/2 (earlier design). Route availability discs (as used on GWR/BR Western Region steam locos) which were only affixed to a few machines are included

Class 52 'Westerns'

All sets include matching number plates and works plates in etched stainless steel, and D1000 incorporates the 'cast' Lion & Wheel totem carried solely by that engine. All plates are available in black and nine are available also in red for fitting to those engines which carried the green livery. Modellers should check with authoritative references before ordering. Maroon and Rail blue liveries carried black background plates; green liveries carried red background plates.
